

PRESS RELEASE

Power Grip

Jonathan Blaschke

28.05. – 03.06.2025

Opening: May 28, 2025, 7:30 pm

There is evil in this world, I've seen it.

At a certain point in your life, you realise you need to get it out of yourself.

This doesn't mean being selfish, a lot of pain comes from attachments.

I'm sure you did a great job.

Impossible to look inside, but you've felt it all,

for in our slumber we do not speak.

In between breaths a tiny meditation,

eyes stay wide open, too scared to become prey,

ready to go back on the run.

As a child it kept you from stopping to breathe,

now you can do that all by yourself,

without thinking, just like lying.

This fear is real, you're not just making it up, it's hard to admit.

You've been telling everyone you're trying to forget and that you're letting go, but there is always something in the trash that we still need.

All that is long gone, very long gone, oh so long gone.

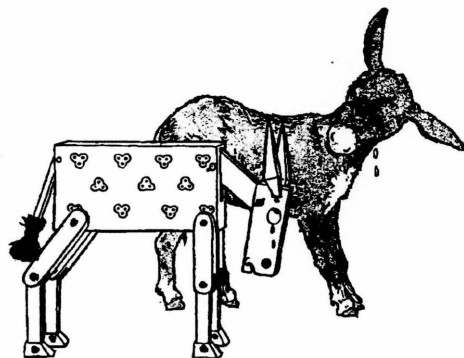

Take one last look.

the people announces that the aim of this press release was never to be completely transparent about what is actually going on.

For this exhibition, we are the kind of animal that likes a good zoo.
